D. LISTEN & CORRECT

Macbeth tells his wife about some recent events.

MACBETH:

My love, your vision was true. Three apparitions met me in the day of success, and I've heard from trustworthy sources that their science goes beyond this earth. When I burnt in desire to question them further, they vanished in the air. Astonished as I was, I heard the King's messengers coming, They hailed me "Thane of Cawdor", title with which these weird witches had greeted me before, adding "Hail to you, that shall be king hereafter!"

LADY MACBETH:

You are Glamis and Cawdor, and soon you'll become king! But I fear your nature; it's too full of the milk of human kindness to catch the nearest way. You would like to be great, since you are ambitious, but you lack the instinct of the evil that has to follow.
